NO PAPER TO-MORROW.

Following the annual custom in the Wilmington newspaper field, there will be no issue of THE STAR to-morrow, all it's employes being allowed the Thanksgiving holiday.

Col. William Jennings Bryan says: "The Democratic party must now get together." Uh, uh! Too early for recriminations.

After Senator Platt had his buckwheat breakfast, we had expected that indigestion would know how to deal with imperialists.

The Republican policy is "stand pat." That means that they will not need any better hand to play for the interests of the trusts.

The North Carolina Department of Agriculture has some of the best cotton boll weevils that can be found anywhere. They are dead.

According to the Norfolk Virginia-Pilot armies of mosquitoes attack ships at sea sure enough. Even the mosquito has caught on to the big stick idea.

President Roosevelt is consulting the leaders of the Republican party just to see if they have got any anti-tariff-revision ideas that he is bound to respect.

Says the Columbia Record: "It is said that the case against Senator Smoot will be pushed at the next meeting of the Senate." A push is about all it will get, too.

Within a year thirty-eight private banks in Iowa have failed and as a result eleven bank officers committed suicide. It is presumed that the books show that the suicides postponed their stunt too long.

The Baltimore Sun is responsible for the announcement that the Monumental City is to have a training college for servants If the students stay long enough to graduate they will start opposition colleges.

A Republican paper incists that Roosevelt has carried out McKinley's policy. Probably it is McKinley's principle that Roosevelt has failed to grasp. There is surely a discrepancy somewhere.

We are willing to admit that the landslide in 32 States was an endorsement of President Roosevelt, but that doesn't keep us from believing that unsuspecting territory like that lays itself liable to an invasion by the gold brick men.

The Richmond Times-Dispatch mentions a few things old Virginia can be thankful for. Virginia has also got something that would give any State's the big-head. No use to say what, but they are awful pretty.

Julius Brown, of Atlanta, the son of his father, the late Senator Joseph E. Brown, proposes to make Roosevelt's election unanimous by casting the South's electoral vote for him in the electoral college. This idea, already done Brown, needs to be roasted to a crisp.

LOCAL DOTS.

— Special convocation of Concord Chapter No. 1, R. A. M., to-morrow evening at eight o'clock to confer the Past Master's degree.

— S. J. Ellis has been granted permission to build a two-story, frame, tin-roof dwelling on Anderson, between Grace and Walnut street.

— The Daughters of Rebekah will give a birthday party to-morrow evening at Odd Fellows' Hall, on North Third street, beginning at 8:30 o'clock.

— Schooner "John D. Paige" cleared yesterday for Charleston, S. C., with cargo of fish scrap from the Cape Fear Fisheries Co., at Old Brunswick.

— British steamer "Fernfield", Capt. Daves, cleared last night for Bremen with cargo of 9,842 bales of cotton, valued at $518,000 and consigned by Messrs. Alexander Sprunt & Son.

— News reached the city last night of the death of Mrs. Robbins, of Phoenix, N. C., which occurred yesterday afternoon at the age of about 70 years. She leaves a large family of sons and daughters.

— Elisha Foster, an old negro arrested before day yesterday morning as a suspicious character, was released by the police. Foster was picked up at Water and Market streets by Policeman C. E. Wood.

— The Willing Workers of the Brooklyn Baptist church will give a basket party in the lecture room of the church Friday night, 25th, for the benefit of the piano fund. The public is cordially invited, — The annual Thanksgiving sermon to the Junior Order of United American Mechanics will be preached by Rev. A. D. McClure, D. D., at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church next Sunday night at 7:30 o'clock.

— A meeting of the Park Commission, comprised of the Mayor, Aldermen W. H. Yopp, and P. Q. Moore, was called for last night but owing to the absence of one member, the meeting was postponed until to-night.

— Messrs. Bulluck & Cowan, the druggists, have issued a very handsome Thanksgiving greeting to their friends and customers in the form of a private mailing card, thanking all for their past patronage and courtesies and respectfully asking a continuance of same.

— The local cotton market declined to 8¼c. for middling yesterday against 10.87½ cents same day last season. New York spot cotton was quiet at 9.80 yesterday. Local receipts 1,128 bales against 2,078 bales same day last year.

— In its report of the recent wreck of the coasting schooner "Maggie C." the name of Mr. W. A. Frink was inadvertently omitted as one of the owners. The list of owners is C. A. Rourk & Co., J. Stanaland, V. Smith, W. A. Frink, C. N. and R. V. Leonard.

Appeal from Mayor.

In the police court yesterday, S. C. Winner, an ex-policeman, was arraigned on a charge of being drunk and disorderly at Third and Princess streets at 3:30 o'clock yesterday morning, the arrest having been made by Policeman G. R. Holt. After hearing the evidence the Mayor imposed a fine of $10 and costs on the defendant and ordered that he should be required to pay for certain plumbing torn up by Winner while in the guard house. The defendant took an appeal to the Superior Court, which meets next week. Bond fixed at $50 had not been given by Mr. Winner late yesterday afternoon. Later, however, Mr. Winner withdrew his appeal, paid the fine and costs and all other charges against him and was discharged from custody.

Reminder of Years Ago.

While a crowd of workmen were excavating for Capt. S. W. Skinner and Mr. H. M. Foard for the new Carolina Copper Works building on the old Fowler lot on South Front street yesterday, two large teeth, weighing three and a half pounds, were unearthed. They appear to be those of a walrus and on one of them is engraved the likeness of a full-rigged ship, evidently made to represent a whaler, from the number of small boats and harpoons in evidence. The presence of the curiosities buried under the ground there is probably accounted for by the fact that long years ago the late Peter Fanning kept a curio shop there, which was burned. The teeth unearthed appear to be burned on one side.

Mr. George Schnibben to Wed.

Handsomely engraved invitations were received in the city yesterday, announcing the following marriage: "Mr. and Mrs. D. Schroder request the honor of your presence at the marriage, Miss Marie S. Hackemann to Mr. George Schnibben Wednesday evening, December the seventh, nineteen hundred and four at six o'clock, 1,423 Laura street, Jacksonville, Fla. At home after December the tenth, Wilmington, N. C."

NATIONAL HOLIDAY.

Usual Elaborate and Appropriate Thanksgiving Observance in Wilmington This Day.

SUSPENSION OF BUSINESS.

Impressive Services of Prayer and Song in City Churches—Jr. O. U. A. M. Exercises at Southport—At the Sound and the Beach.

On the eve of the great national holiday Wilmington, as usual, is prepared for her general and most appropriate observance of Thanksgiving Day. The annual exodus of people from the city to the country and from the country to the city is on in earnest and if the weather is good, as promised by Uncle Sam's prognosticators, Thanksgiving 1904 will perhaps pass into history as the greatest of them all. There will be a practical suspension of business in Wilmington during the day. The county, city and United States offices, the Chamber of Commerce, with nearly all other places of public resort, including the wholesale houses and not a few of the retail establishments, will be closed for the day. The postoffice will observe Sunday hours, the carriers making only the early morning delivery and collection.

A large number of people will spend the day hunting and fishing, many having left on last night's trains and others leaving on the early trains this morning.

At Southport Fort Johnison Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., will observe Thanksgiving with imposing ceremonies attending the laying of the corner stone of the handsome new school building there. That will be an attraction for many Wilmington "Juniors," their families and friends, who will leave on a special trip of the steamer "Wilmington" at 9:30 o'clock this morning returning at 5 o'clock this afternoon. The fare will be only 25c. for the round trip.

To hundreds of others the opportunity for a day of recreation and pleasure at Wrightsville Sound will appeal. The Consolidated Company will operate a half hour schedule from 9 A. M. to 5 P. M., to the sound and beach and all who desire to do so may get on or off the cars for hunting at any point along the line, Capt. W. F. Corbett, of the Consolidated Co., announces that the celebrated brass band composed of both ladies and gentlemen, with the Pickert Dramatic Co., now playing at the theatre here, will give a concert in Hanby's pavilion this afternoon from 1 to 2 o'clock.

Men's Golf Match.

The annual men's tournament of the Cape Fear Golf Club, on Thanksgiving, will be played to-day at the club links. It will be a handicap match over 27 holes. The play will begin promptly at 10 o'clock in the morning and will continue throughout the day. The tournament is open to every male member of the club. Two handsome prizes are offered. A car will be run out to the club grounds every half hour during the day.

At the Theatre.

Every playhouse in the country always makes much of Thanksgiving Day, so accordingly the Academy in this city will offer both matinee and night performances. The attraction will be the Pickert Company, which opened a four-night engagement at the local theatre last night in the drama, "A Wife's Peril." At special matinee this afternoon the company will be seen in "Little Lord Fauntleroy" and little Miss Blanche Pickert will appear as the "Little Lord." She is a charming little actress and will soon be popular with our theatre-goers. The prices will be 10 and 20 cents. To-night the company will present the well known play of "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" and this piece will, no doubt, prove a strong drawing card. At both the afternoon and night performances an up-to-date programme of specialties will be introduced, including the Pickerts and a fine illustrated song singer. Tickets for the two performances are now on sale at Plummer's.

Church Announcements.

In all Wilmington churches there will be special Thanksgiving services to-day. The announcements received at this office are as follows:

Services in St. John's church to-day by the pastor at 10:30 A. M. Offerings for the Thompson Orphanage.

Thanksgiving Day services will be held in St. Paul's Lutheran church to-day at 11 A. M., with an offering for the Associated Charities.

There will be Thanksgiving service at St. James' at 11 o'clock A. M. to-day. The offerings will be for the Thompson Orphanage.

Services will be conducted at St. Andrew's Presbyterian church to day at 11 o'clock. There will be a special offering for the Barium Springs Orphanage.

The Loyal Workers' Society of the Second Advent Christian church will hold a special Thanksgiving service to-night, commencing at 8 o'clock, in the church.

There will be Thanksgiving services at the First Church of Christ, Scientist, Murchison Bank building, at 11 A. M. to-day.

Thanksgiving services will be held at Grace church to-day at 11 A. M. The programme will consist of appropriate music by the choir, reading of Thanksgiving proclamation, a short sermon by the pastor and a collection for the orphanage at Raleigh. A cordial invitation is extended to the public to attend this service and return thanks for the abundant mercies and blessings of the year.

There will be Thanksgiving services at the First Presbyterian church this morning at 11 o'clock by the pastor. The public cordially invited.

Thanksgiving Day cars to the Beach every half hour from 9 A. M. to 5 P. M.

GRACE CHURCH CONFERENCE.

Last of Present Year Held Friday Night. State Gathering of Methodists at Henderson Next Week.

The last quarterly conference of Grace M. E. church for the present conference year was held Friday night. All the reports showed a healthy financial condition and the station will make a fine showing at the annual conference to be held in Henderson, N. C., next week, Bishop W. A. Candler, of Georgia, presiding. The annual election of church officers was held and the new year was entered upon with a spirit that augurs well for the congregation.

It was noted with regret at the conference that this will be the last term which it will be possible for the Rev. R. B. John to serve the district as presiding elder, he having been here four years. His administration has been characterized by energy and strict devotion to his work and at the conference very warm resolutions of commendation were passed. The resolutions were supplemented by remarks of a most complimentary nature.

The Rev. N. M. Watson, who has served the congregation as pastor with such conspicuous ability during the past year, will without a doubt be returned. He has a fast hold upon his people and the church was never in better condition, spiritually and financially.

The delegates to the North Carolina Conference from Wilmington will leave Tuesday afternoon and evening for Henderson in order to be there at the opening on Wednesday morning.

WILL WED THIS AFTERNOON.

Miss Katharine E. Sholar to Become the Bride of Popular Baltimorean.

This afternoon at 5 o'clock at the the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. B. F. King, No. 509 South Front street, Miss Katherine E. Sholar, one of Wilmington's most attractive young ladies, will be married to Mr. John Langford, of Baltimore, Md., the Rev. A. McCullen, pastor of Fifth street M. E. church, officiating. A number of friends and relatives of the young people will be present to witness the ceremony.

Miss Sholar is much loved and admired in a wide circle of friends here, and the groom is one of the popular young travelling representatives of the Westinghouse Co., the great electrical manufacturing people. Mr. and Mrs. Langford will leave soon after the ceremony for a bridal trip South, and will later be at home, for the present, at Macon, Ga., where the groom is now engaged.

ONLY TWO ENLISTMENTS HERE.

Recruiting Office Closed Yesterday and Officers Left for Philadelphia.

Lieut. Foster and party who have been in charge of the recruiting office of the United States navy in this city during the past week, left yesterday for Oil City, Pa., but will later return South and open offices at several points in Georgia. While there were twelve or more applications for enlistment here, only two of the applicants passed the physical examination required. They were Messrs. Henry J. Price, formerly of this city but lately of Newbern, and Claudius L. Summerell, of Wilmington. They will be sent to a training ship at Portsmouth and later be assigned to service in one of the regular fleets.

Fire Chief's Horse Ran.

Even the fire horse is not expected to preserve his equanimity at all times and under all circumstances. It was just so with "Old Dewey," Chief Schnibben's faithful old fire horse that for eight years has been accustomed to the clanging of bells and the hiss of steam and roar of flames. "Dewey" was left for a moment at Tenth and Market streets yesterday morning and would have probably remained as still as a mouse for an indefinite period, had not Mr. Pembroke Jones' automobile at that moment dashed up the street with the speed of lightning. "Dewey" could stand it no longer and "took out" in the other direction up the sidewalk. He ran for a block until he hitched the buggy against something, broke a shaft and went free. He was caught at Eighth and Market streets and returned to the chief.

Residence Burglarized.

The residence of Mr. T. J. Capel, No. 419 Campbell street, was entered by burglars between midnight and day yesterday morning and a small amount of money and a gold watch were stolen. The watch is a Waltham open-face timepiece, with the initials "G. W. F." engraved on the back. Mr. Capel will give a reward if the watch is returned.

To City Subscribers.

City subscribers are earnestly requested to report promptly at the STAR office every failure of the carriers to deliver their papers. Under a new system we have adopted we are confident a much more satisfactory city delivery will result provided subscribers will report, either in person or by postal card, every case of negligence on the part of carriers.

ON TO RICHMOND!

Annual Football Game There To-day Attracts Hundreds of Wilmington People.

PROSPECTS OF WINNING.

Relative Strength of Teams and How Betting Odds Stand—Rooters Galore from Both Carolinas and Virginia Universities There.

To last night's northbound Atlantic Coast Line train were attached an extra Pullman and a day coach to provide needed accommodations for the large number of Wilmingtonians, who are this have arrived in Richmond and will be among the most enthusiastic of the thousands of Carolinians who will cheer the white and blue on to victory in the great annual football contest there this afternoon with the Virginians. The attendance from Wilmington is variously estimated at from one hundred to one hundred and fifty, many ladies being included in the number. Another large party left yesterday morning among the number having been Mrs. Preston L. Bridgers, Miss Lucy Bridgers, Mrs. Cuthbert Martin, Miss Bessie Gore, Miss Carrie Harriss, Messrs. E. S. Nash, Adolph Ahrens, Benj. Bell, Jr., George Davis and Sidney Wilson.

Both teams had arrived in Richmond last night and were quartered at the New Richmond. Such interest in a game at Richmond was never manifested before, according to advices last night, and the crowd was never larger. The Richmond Times-Dispatch in its summary yesterday said:

"Friends of both teams are backing their favorites not only with talk, but with money. On the surface Virginia seems to be the favorite, but there are those who are inclined toward North Carolina with an enthusiasm that argues well."

"The record of the two teams this year puts them on an equal footing in the eyes of the critics. Betting is almost purely on sentimental grounds. Last night bets of one to three were registered that Virginia would not score, and eighty to 100 that Carolina would win. Another bet of seventy to 100 was made, the "short" man to name the winner. But the average line of betting is even money on Virginia."

"The officials for the contest will be: Sharp, of Yale, umpire; Thompson, of Georgetown, referee, and Suter, of Princeton, head lineman. The line from end to end, averages 180 pounds, with a team average of 170."

Forecast of Virginia's Game.

UNIVERSITY OF VIRGINIA, Nov. 22.—All of the University and much of Charlottesville is going to Richmond to-morrow and next day to see Virginia recapture the Southern football championship on Thursday. Enthusiasm over the contest is spreading and nothing else is talked of from one end of college to the other.

Richmond is going to have the most representative aggregation of college students ever in the old town, as the rates offered this year over the Chesapeake and Ohio are the cheapest ever given from this point. A mass meeting of students will be held in the university auditorium to-night, when the few students who have not yet made up their minds fully about taking the trip will be induced to go along to help in the rooting.

A subscription is being raised to-day to procure the Stonewall band of Staunton to accompany the rooters, and as $100 has been procured already, the move will undoubtedly carry.

According to present plans, the rooting this year will be more systematic than ever before at any similar contest witnessed in the South. Cheer leaders will be appointed at to-night's meeting and arrangements completed whereby all Virginia men will get together, so that the rooting may be most effective.

John Ashby Williams, of Washington, one of the most prominent students in college, will be chief rooter. Coach Sanford has ordered the eleven to report for practice again this afternoon, despite the rain. The fear is that some of the players will be disabled if the practice to-day is as strenuous as it was yesterday.

Betting in Charlottesville is 8 to 5 on Carolina, but all money offered at this odds is being taken by the students who have closely watched the practice of the last few days.

President and Mrs. Alderman have engaged quarters at the hotel Richmond, and will both be on hand to cheer for the Orange and Blue. In former years Dr. Alderman has rooted for North Carolina, but now he has pinned his faith to Virginia. The whole college has perfect confidence in the team.

Carolina's Prospects.

The independent thinkers feel that North Carolina will triumph, and figure it out on the record of the present year and particularly in the Georgetown games. Georgetown failed to score as heavily against the Tar Heels this fall as they did last, and Carlisle trounced Virginia this time.

An enthusiastic mass meeting was held to-night in Gerrard Hall to give the team a good send-off. Songs and yells were practiced.

Captain Stewart, in an interview to-night, made the following statement: "To say which team will win is absolutely impossible. From past scores, it would indicate that Virginia stands the better chance—yet you can never tell the score until the contest ends. My team is in perfect trim, and every man is in shape to play the game of his life. I cannot say whether Carolina will win, but if Virginia wins, she must play a good game. The score should be close."

Your correspondent to-night wired Captain Council, of the Virginia team, for a statement. He desired not to make any predictions, but said Virginia will put up the best game of the season.

About 500 students will leave here Thursday morning at 5 o'clock on a special train to root and shout the college yells. A large number of special trains will be run from different sections of the State.

The Wilmington Symphony Orchestra has been reorganized under the management and leadership of the able violinist, Prof. C. C. Brannon, who will drill this organization to the eminent satisfaction of all who may give their work into its hands. Balls, parties, receptions, and wherever good music will be needed instrusted to me will be guaranteed satisfactory or not a cent will be paid for the Orchestra's services. Address Prof. C. C. Brannon, 119 Chestnut street.

AN EDITOR HAS SMALLPOX.

Raleigh Times Man Contracted Disease While on Business Trip.

[Raleigh News & Observer.]

RALEIGH, N. C., Nov. 23.—Editor J. C. Caddell, of the Raleigh Times, who has been travelling through the central portion of the State in the interest of his paper, is a sufferer at his home at Wake Forest from smallpox which he contracted in his travels.

Mr. Caddell returned to Raleigh from a trip through Piedmont North Carolina several days ago feeling ill and for a day or so was confined to his room at his boarding place. However, he felt better and on Saturday was up and taking a drive through the city. On Monday Mr. Caddell, although he was well enough to be on the streets, consulted a physician in a drug store with reference to an eruption that had broken out on his face and hands. The physician, after examination, at once pronounced the disease of a suspicious nature and took prompt precautions, both as to himself and the other occupants of the store, advising Mr. Caddell to at once go to his home or a hospital.

Acting on this advice Mr. Caddell left at once for Wake Forest, where he quarantined himself and summoned his family physician. A telephone message from Wake Forest yesterday confirmed the Raleigh doctor's suspicions, stating that Mr. Caddell was afflicted with the disease and that his home had been quarantined by order of Mayor Allen.

WILLIAM H. BERNARD.

WILMINGTON, N. C.

THURSDAY MORNING Nov. 24.

ROOSEVELT HAS NO SECTIONAL FEELING.

On Monday Secretary of War Taft and his party sailed from New Orleans on the cruiser Dolphin for Pensacola where they will board the cruiser Columbia, which, with the Dolphin, will sail for Panama to take Mr. Taft there to come to some understanding with the Panama government concerning differences between that government and ours.

While at New Orleans Secretary Taft received the unbounded courtesy and hospitality of the people of the Crescent city. On the eve of his departure the New Orleans Progressive Union, an organization of business men working for the advancement of the interests of their port and the development of the industrial and commercial life of the city, gave the Secretary a banquet. As a matter of course there were toasts and the President's Secretary of War, was called upon to responed to the toast, "The President of the United States." The dispatches from New Orleans say that his speech aroused much discussion. After paying President Roosevelt the highest tribute that could be expected from one in such close touch with him, Secretary Taft said:

"Now I am glad to say that he is going to make a visit to this part of the country. And I ask you to listen to him as he talks to you face to face, and I ask you, when he has talked to you face to face, to say whether you think he is a sectional man or has any sectional feeling or animosity. I ask you to look through all his writings. Was there ever a candidate who has written so much upon every subject at every time of life? I ask you to look through his writings and find a single line that indicates hostility or sectional feelings toward the South. I am not going into a discussion of sectionalism or of race, because it is not meet that I should. I am not here with a mandate from him, but I am here to say that the attacks upon him from this region of the country have only saddened him, and I know that there is in his nature, in his courage, in his dash and in his love of a strenuous life that which appeals to the Southern nature and that which I know will find sympathy in everyone of your hearts."

Secretary Taft comes right from the President's official family, and feels that he can speak as one who is in daily touch with Mr. Roosevelt. From Secretary Taft's viewpoint, the President may not be sectional, but, judged by his acts, the President has displayed his lack of sympathy with if not his contempt for the traditions and aspirations of the Southern people. It is hard to reconcile his acts with the declarations of his Secretary of War.

The simple fact is that he can't see why the South should not accept his idea of the political and civic (shall we say social) equality of the negro. The South is shocked to observe that Mr. Roosevelt ignores its position on that question. In his repeated appointment of Dr. Crum as collector of the port of Charleston, contrary to the protests of the entire business community, and in defiance of the refusal of the Senate to confirm the negro collector the President shows a determination to enforce his position against the resentment of an intelligent and wealthy city of the South.

After the Senate had refused three or four times to confirm Dr. Crum as collector, the President could have gracefully withdrawn the appointment, but, determined to force Crum on Charleston, he has kept him in office nearly four years without any pay, as the collector can draw no salary till he is confirmed. Would Roosevelt or any other President do that to any city north of Mason and Dixon's line? If not, why should he do it below the traditional sectional line?

We make no attempt to disprove the statement that President Roosevelt is not sectional. His position about the Charleston collectorship and other acts of his speak louder than words, and under all the circumstances we are puzzled.

It is hoped that Senator Cockerell, the distinguished Missouri Democrat who is to be succeeded by a Republican, will turn a deaf ear to the seductive anxiety of the administration to give him an office. It would be a good thing for the future success of the G. O. P. in Missouri to have men like Cockerell shelved. Somebody at the White House displays expert knowledge of the political checkerboard.

An article on "Dress Reform" says: "Our women must dress less." Sh! If they dress less of themselves then they do now it will be an imposition on curtailment of dress goods.

Not a Sick Day Since.

"I was taken severely sick with kidney trouble. I tried all sorts of medicines, none of which relieved me. One day I saw an advertisement of your Electric Bitters and determined to try that. After taking a few doses I felt relieved, and soon thereafter was entirely cured, and have not seen a sick day since. Neighbors of mine have been cured of rheumatism, neuralgia, liver and kidney troubles and general debility." This is what B. F. Bass, of Fremont, N. C., writes. Only 50 cents, at R. R. BELLAMY'S drug store.

DRAINAGE OF LUMBER RIVER.

The Lumber Robesonian of Tuesday says:

"Congressman Patterson told us while in town Saturday that it was his purpose during the next session of Congress to see if he could not interest the government in draining Lumber River, thereby reclaiming thousands of acres of valuable lands which are rendered worthless by the overflow due to insufficient drainage. It is a well known fact that throughout this entire section there are no more valuable farming lands than those which lie immediately along the river and it is quite as well known that these lands are rarely if ever planted, because the result of crops on them is so uncertain. Generally speaking the lands have rich soil on fine clay sub-soil and all that is necessary to add thousands of acres to the arable lands of Robeson county is to secure such drainage as will insure thorough freedom from inundation. This would make possible the drainage and cultivation of much land now cleared and the clearing of much swamp land, which is the best in the county. We hope Mr. Patterson's efforts will meet with success, as this is a matter of no small importance to the people of this county as well as to those living on the river below us."

The STAR hopes Congressman Patterson will be able to do something with the important scheme mentioned above. We do not know what the scope of the plan is or what the probable expenditure would be, but we presume that it would be a pretty big undertaking from first to last. No doubt Mr. Patterson can at least secure a preliminary survey for the proposed improvement and that would determine the feasibility of the project. All that the Robesonian says about the importance of the project from the point of reclaiming thousands of immensely fertile and productive lands is true, but our esteemed contemporary fails to mention the possibly more important feature of the navigation of the river to Lumberton. There is sufficient depth of water in the river as far up as Lumberton and all that is needed is to clean out the river and do some dredging. Navigation to Lumberton would give additional transportation to that enterprising and growing place, and would immensely develop the country all along the river. Good luck to the project.

CURRENT COMMENT.

—— It is up to the negro himself to saw his way out of the wood pile. —Richmond Times-Dispatch.

—— The appointment of a Southern man to President Roosevelt's next Cabinet would be a fitting tribute to the square-deal policy.—Baltimore Sun.

—— The minority in the next Congress will not be utterly cast down so long as it retains its garden seed and franking privileges.—Washington Post.

—— The Socialist party, however, differs from the Populist party in the respect that it possesses stronger elements of cohesion, hence it is not too much to say that it will in the next four years absorb what is left of the Populist organization.—New Orleans States.

—— The Republican landslide showed its contempt for the Constitution in Illinois by electing Zenos J. Rives, a Litchfield lawyer 23 years of age, to the House of Representatives; whereas the Constitution of the United States says that no man under 25 years old shall serve in the lower House in Congress.—Norfolk Landmark.

—— Over in Georgia candidates for governor are already announcing themselves. Amongst numerous other candidates spoken of are Col. Estill, of the Savannah Morning News, and Mr. Clark Howell, of the Atlanta Constitution. Col. Estill was a candidate in the last party primary and polled a large vote, and starts off in this race with good prospects of success.—Columbia Record.

——The negro can only be injured by political action in Washington seeking to change his status. He must work out his own salvation from his surroundings. Those politicians who mourn because he does not vote surely must realize that his vote, because of his ignorance and childishness, would be a greater peril than is now the vote of the vicious element of the city slums.—Chicago News.

REACHING THE SPOT.

It Can Be Done, So Scores of Wilmington Citizens Say.

To cure an aching back,
The pains of rheumatism,
The tired-out feelings,
You must reach the spot—get at the cause.
In most cases 'tis the kidneys.
Doan's Kidney Pills are for the kidneys.

J. E. Bloodworth, residing at 30 South Front street and employed at 123 Princess street, says: "I used Doan's Kidney Pills and they have proven to be a very valuable remedy and I believe I am safe in recommending them. My back and kidneys have given me great trouble. I thought I had rheumatism. I had shooting pains through my back and side which often made me yell right out. If I stood, sat or lay down or kept in any one position for any length of time it was almost impossible for me to move on account of the great pain. I heard some one speak in praise of Doan's Kidney Pills and I sent down to Bellamy's drug store and got a box. They completely removed the pains. They are without doubt a valuable remedy for backache."

— A dispatch from Asheboro on Tuesday says: The cotton mills—there being fourteen in all in this county—are running on full time and prospering. The Cedar Falls Manufacturing Company have recently added a lot of new machinery to Mill No. 1, and also erected a new steel tank as a protection against fire. This is one of the best managed corporations in the county.

— A dispatch from Dunn on Saturday says: Yesterday the Erwin mills at Duke turned the large wheel for the first time by steam. They will fire up every day now and soon have much of the machinery fitted and running. By December 1st Harnett's first cotton factory will be making cloth. Some northern capitalists are investigating Dunn as a site for a silk mill. We can offer a fine location and good climate and plenty of labor.

— In the business part of Asheville on Sunday night fire destroyed $8,000 worth of property, with partial insurance. The principal losers are the Theobold Candy Company, building and stock destroyed; the Asheville Music Company and Bender's hair dressing establishment. The roof of the building of The Asheville Citizen, a morning newspaper, caught fire twice, but was saved.

— At Raleigh on Tuesday about 1 P. M. fire was discovered in a bathroom under the west main stairway in the State capitol, but it was extinguished before any serious damage was done. It started in a basket of waste paper that had been placed in the room by one of the laborers that morning. Rats and matches are blamed for the blaze. The building is regarded as practically fire proof.

—Among the White House callers Monday, at Washington, were former Senator Marion Butler and Marshall L. Mott. It was Mr. Butler's first visit since the election. He says there is no Federal office that he wants and says that he is seeking none. Marshall Mott's call related to the affairs of the Creek Nation. The President told Mr. Mott to call again after his return from St. Louis when he will have more time to consider the legislative acts of the Creeks, which he must approve and sign before they are effective.

— Charlotte Observer, Nov. 23d: A number of gentlemen interested in hotel propositions for Charlotte held a secret meeting Monday night, but information about it leaked out yesterday, so that the result of the gathering was given out. The committee which was recently appointed to canvass the city to raise a hotel subscription list reported that they had $60,000 in bona fide subscriptions. It was decided to bring together the various interests which have planned hotels for Charlotte and to have a $200,000 structure erected, to have not less than 250 rooms and be up-to-date in every particular. Anothing meeting will be held December 1st, when progress will be reported.

— Henry P. Cheatham, former negro Congressman from the 1st North Carolina district, and former recorder of deeds of the District of Columbia, and Dr. J. E. Sheppard of Raliegh also called at the White House in Washington on Monday. Cheatham, who did much campaigning in Indiana and Illinois, talked to the president about his trip and was thanked for his services. While Cheatham has not singled out any office that he has designs on, it is known that he would like a good berth in the federal service. He would of course be pleased with reappointment as recorder of deeds, but with a fight already on for that position he will hardly enter into the contest so writes the Washington correspondent of the Raleigh Post.

COTTON MARKETS.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—The cotton market showed continued activity. The second installment of the ginners' report showing a smaller percentage of increase over the amount ginned in the same counties last season than the report of yesterday, caused some pretty active covering and the market in the afternoon showed a steadier tone though yielding again before the close. The market opened steady at an advance of two to four points in response to better cables than looked for, but almost immediately weakened and before the end of the first hour showed a net decline of about seven to eleven points, or within a few points of the low level attained last summer. At this decline, covering was naturally attracted and toward midday the market had recovered about half the loss. The census report showing that 475 counties have ginned to Nov. 14th, this year, about 5,733,175 bales, against 4,006,125 bales last year, was then read and was followed by a further upward movement, carrying December to 9.36 and January to 9.46, or a gain from the lowest of about twelve to fourteen points. Later the market weakened again under bear pressure, attracted by the bulge, and liquidation by buyers on the early break who wanted to get out of the market over the holiday to-morrow. The close was steady at a decline of one to three points. Sales were estimated at 500,000 bales.

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—Cotton—The market was quiet at 9.80c; net receipts 167 bales; gross receipts 8,916 bales; stock — bales.

WINTER'S APPROACH

A day of sunshine now and then, but these frosty mornings admonish us that sable Winter is almost here. That suggests the comforts and satisfaction of one of our modern heaters. We have them this year of every shape and kind—just the one to suit. Or, perhaps, it's a cooking stove or range. We have those too. And the point we are making for them all is that they furnish an even maximum of heat with the greatest economy of fuel.

We are yours just now for stoves and ranges, but all the time for hardware and agricultural implements. Let us serve you.

AN EVEN CHANCE WITH DEATH

[Original.]

The Spanish-American war developed valuable scientific facts.

The officers of one of the volunteer regiments were regaling themselves in Havana, where the command was sent after the surrender of Santiago, celebrating the results of the campaign. During the evening the regimental surgeon, Major Norris, deliberately insulted a young lieutenant, Bertram, who was sitting opposite him at table. Bertram was surrounded by a number of junior officers. Norris by several surgeons who happened to be on duty at Havana at the time and who had been invited to participate in the festivities. Norris accused Bertram of cowardice before Santiago. Since Bertram bore an unexceptionable record his companions were astonished at the doctor's charge. Bertram left the table and sent one of them to demand a retraction. It was refused, and he sent a challenge. The doctor agreed to give satisfaction, but as the challenged party demanded the privilege of choosing the method of the contest. He declared that his method would involve certainly the death of one of the antagonists and stipulated that Bertram should sign an agreement before knowing of the terms to accept them. This Bertram was obliged to do or remain under the ban of cowardice. When the preliminaries were completed and the paper was signed Norris made known his way of fighting. Two pellets, the one harmless, the other containing prussic acid in concentrated form, would be placed in a cup. The principals should each draw and swallow a pellet.

Some of Bertram's brother officers begged him to refuse to fight on the terms on account of their unmilitary character, but he suffered so severely under the surgeon's aspersions that he declared he would rather run one chance in two of death than live under obloquy. He fulfilled his agreement, and after the dinner was over a party of officers, including all the surgeons who had sat together at table, the two principals and two of Bertram's company, assembled in a room above where the banquet had been held, ready for the duel.

Norris chose one of the surgeons and Bertram another to prepare the pellets, both agreeing that the major of the regiment act as supervising umpire. The three retired to an adjoining room, where they were gone a long while. There was evidently a want of harmony among them, and the major's voice could be heard raised in protest, the words "certain death" being distinctly audible. While this was going on Surgeon Norris sat coolly reading a medical journal, Bertram thinking of that terrible even chance between life and death. The consequence was that when at the end of an hour the men returned from the other room Bertram was very nervous.

"Gentlemen, are you ready?" asked the major, who held the cup.

Both replied in the affirmative.

"This cup," continued the major, "contains the pellets, as agreed upon. The surgeons who have prepared them have surrounded the fatal one with wintergreen."

He held the cup first to Norris as the ranking officer, who chose a pellet and swallowed it. Bertram, whose hand trembled, did the same with the remaining pellet.

Presently Norris said:

"Bertram, I commiserate you. I cracked my pellet with my teeth, and yet I taste nothing."

At the same moment Bertram went deadly pale. The outer coating of his pellet had been dissolved, and there was a strong flavor of wintergreen.

"If you have anything to say," said one of the surgeons, "I should advise you to say it quickly. The drug, you know, acts instantly, and we have allowed only ten minutes for its inclosure to be dissolved."

Bertram was standing when he took the pellet, but now the certainty of death weakened his knees, and he sank back on a lounge. One of those present brought him writing materials with which to write a last message. He took the pen, but was unable to write. Nevertheless his pluck was good. "It works quickly," he said, with some coolness. "The nerves of my fingers are already powerless."

"Speak what you have to say," said one of the surgeons. "Your tongue will soon be paralyzed."

Bertram spoke a few words, then found it impossible to articulate further. He sank lower on the sofa and closed his eyes. The surgeon whom he had chosen to prepare the food of death went to him and felt of his heart.

"The whisky, quick!" he shouted. "Great heavens, I'm afraid he's gone!"

Whisky had been kept at hand, and half a tumbler was poured down the lieutenant's throat.

"I say, Bertram," cried the surgeon, "you are mistaken! You have not swallowed poison!"

Bertram slowly opened his eyes and looked wildly about him.

"This is not a duel," continued the surgeon. "It is a medical experiment to test if a man may be killed by the imagination. The pellets were both made of bread."

"Wake up, Bertram," said Norris, going to him and taking his hand. "You're as brave as a lion. I put this up on you to convince my friends the doctors that you could be killed by a harmless pill. We were discussing at dinner the feasibility of taking note in practice of the effect of mind over matter and concocted this as a preliminary test of the mind's effect."

Bertram was soon himself again and thanked the gentlemen for honoring him by using him in the interest of science.

Nothing to Prevent It.

Representative Clayton of Alabama and Representative Griggs of Georgia, whose districts adjoin, went hunting on a day last fall. They stayed out later than they expected to and at sunset found themselves miles from home and without food or drink.

"NOBODY'S HENDERIN' YOU."

They trudged along until they came to a cabin at the end of a lane they had been following.

Clayton rapped on the door. An old man stuck his head out of a window and asked gruffly:

"What do you all want?"

"We want to stay here all night," said Clayton.

"Well," growled the man as he banged the window shut, "stay there; nobody's henderin' you."—Kansas City Journal.

Force of Habit.

Wallace Munro, theatrical manager, tells of an experience he had in a country boarding house not many miles from the borough of Manhattan. It appears that one of the lodgers was rather a mystery, and nobody seemed to know much about him. One day the landlady said to Mr. Munro:

"I don't believe that new boarder is a bachelor. I'm sure he must be either a married man or a widower."

"Why, how on earth can you tell?" asked Mr. Munro.

"Easily enough," replied the veteran boarding house keeper. "Because whenever he pays his board he always turns his back to me when he takes out his money."

LAW POINTS.

Requiring citizens to become members of drainage districts and share the expense of drainage against their wills is held in Mound City L. and S. company versus Miller (Mo.), 60 L. R. A. 190, not to make a drainage law unconstitutional.

Notice of dishonor of a promissory note is held in Oakley versus Carr (Neb.), 60 L. R. A. 431, to be sufficient if sent to the last indorser by the first mail of the day following dishonor even though such indorser is an agent for collection merely.

An act requiring the redemption in money of checks issued in payment of assigned wages, which is applicable only to merchants on the one hand and coal miners on the other, is held in Dixon versus Poe (Ind.), 60 L. R. A. 208, to be void as class legislation.

SCIENCE PREVENTS BALDNESS.

The Fatal Germ and Its Remedy Now Facts of Science.

It is the rarest thing in the world for a man to be necessarily bald. No man whose hair is not dead at the roots, need be bald if he will use Newbro's Herpicide, the new scalp antiseptic. Herpicide destroys the germ that cuts the hair off at the root; and cleans the scalp of dandruff and leaves it in a perfectly healthy condition. Mr. Mannett, in the Maryland Block, Butte, Mont., was entirely bald. In less than a month Herpicide had removed the enemies of hair growth, and nature did its work by covering his head with thick hair an inch long, and in six weeks he had a normal suit of hair. The Morning Star.

WILMINGTON, N. C.

THURSDAY MORNING, NOV. 24.

CENSUS BUREAU'S REPORT.

Showing the Amount of Cotton Ginned in the Southern States Up to November 14th—5,803,830 Bales.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—The Census Bureau to-day issued a preliminary statement of the quantity of cotton ginned to November 14th, 1904, in 475 counties, for which reports have been received up to date, showing 18,663 active ginneries, against 18,619 for the same period and number of counties in 1903, and 5,803,830 running bales for 1904, against 4,160,105 in 1903.

These figures include 141,311 round bales for 1904 and 307,944 for 1903 and refer solely to the 475 counties. The number of counties from which ginning was reported last season is 813, and the entire number of active ginneries reported up to November 14th, 1903, was 29,506 and the total cotton ginned 7,070,437 running bales.

The report says:

"Statements of the progress of each canvass are made for the purpose of furnishing to the public the results with all possible rapidity. Each bulletin includes the quantity previously reported. When all the agents shall have reported there will be published a summary by States showing the total quantity of cotton ginned during the season prior to November 14th."

By States, the reports for the 475 counties mentioned for this season prior to November 14th, 1904, are as follows:

Alabama, 36 counties, 579,543 running bales ginned; Arkansas, 44 counties, 362,571 bales; Florida, 13 counties, 38,334 bales; Georgia, 105 counties, 1,246,997 bales; Indian Territory, five counties, 66,314 bales; Kentucky, one county, 830 bales; Louisiana, 26 counties, 324,554 bales; Mississippi, 44 counties, 558,846 bales; North Carolina, 51 counties, 440,156 bales; Oklahoma, two counties, 21,489 bales; South Carolina, 33 counties, 725,463 bales; Tennessee, 30 counties, 142,161 bales; Texas, 71 counties, 1,369,913 bales; and Virginia, six counties, 8,649 bales.

AT WAYCROSS, GA.

Woman Died from Effects of a Pistol Shot Fired by Her Stepson.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

MACON, GA., Nov. 23.—A special to the Telegraph from Waycross, Ga., says:

Mrs. Julia Williams, wife of Henry T. Williams, a well known citizen, died this morning at 4 o'clock at her home near this city from the effects of a pistol shot wound inflicted by her step-son, Kinch Williams, a young man 18 years old. The shooting occurred on Nov. 14th, because she refused to give him some whiskey. He thought she had hidden it. Williams shot his step-mother with a 32-calibre pistol, the ball entering her right leg near the knee, passing through the bone. It is said that the young man was crazy drunk when he fired the shot.

The recent grand jury found a bill against Williams, charging him with assault with intent to murder, but since Mrs. Williams' death the case against him becomes a more serious one. He has left the county, but there is a warrant in the sheriff's hands here for his arrest and it is thought that he will soon be caught. Mrs. Williams belonged to a well known Brooke county family and the remains will be carried to Pidcock in that county for burial to-morrow morning.

CRUISER PENNSYLVANIA.

In Trial Trip Made Highest Speed of Any Armored Vessel in the Navy.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

BOSTON, MASS., Nov. 23.—The armored cruiser Pennsylvania, in her official trial trip off the New England coast to-day, made the highest speed with the smallest relative expenditure of fuel of any armored vessel so far built for the United States navy. Her contract called for 22 knots and her average speed for the four hours trial was 22.43 knots per hour, while her coal consumption was 2½ pounds per horse power per hour.

Her builders, William Cramp & Son, of Philadelphia, made no attempt throughout the trial to push this, their greatest vessel, but on the other hand bent their energies to exceed the government requirement at most economic expenditure of fuel possible. Her trial was, therefore, the first of the numerous tests over the Cape Ann course where speed was not the sought-for object.

MRS. R. B. WILLIS.

Woman Who Brought Suit in Asheville Against Estate of W. S. Bradley.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WALTHAM, MASS, Nov. 23.—Mrs. Rosina Bradley Willis, of this city, who has brought suit at Asheville, N. C., against the estate of William S. Bradley, of Hendersonville, N. C., is the wife of Warwick Willis, a resident of this city. Mrs. Willis says that Mr. Bradley, who formerly was a successful photographer in Boston, was her uncle and adopted her when she was small. He was very eccentric and about fifteen years after the death of his wife, suddenly left Boston. He afterwards lived in Augusta, Georgia, and Hendersonville, where he died in 1902. Fred Bradley, of Boston, also was adopted by Mrs. Bradley and is a claimant for his property with Mrs. Willis.

LYNCHING PREVENTED.

Negro Charged With Insulting White Woman Taken to Atlanta from Augusta.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

MACON, GA., Nov. 23.—A special to the Telegraph from Augusta, Ga., says that Joe Harris, the negro charged with insulting Miss Young, Saturday, and who was on Monday placed under arrest, has been spirited away to Atlanta to avoid mob violence. The mob was lying in wait for the negro at his home, to which place he was returning, and the officials intercepted Harris.

Sidney Dillon, the famous sire of Lou Dillon, was sold yesterday at the Old Glory horse sale in New York for $9,000. He was bought by Sterling R. Holt, of Indianapolis.

BATTLE EXPECTED SOUTH OF MUKDEN.

Scarcely Believed Possible That Two Great Armies Can Winter So Close Together.

JAPS MUST TAKE INITIATIVE.

The Russians Have the Better of the Present Position—Japs Threaten the Russian Flank—Submarines at Yokohama—Port Arthur.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 23, 2:25 A. M.—Appearances again point to the possibility of a big battle south of Mukden. The Japanese, according to an official report, have received a severe setback in the vicinity of Sintsintin, in which direction they apparently were attempting to execute a wide turning movement. Military opinion here scarcely believes it possible that the two great armies can winter less than a rifle shot distant from each other, though the heavy defences on each side make it extremely difficult for either to assume the offensive. It is believed, however, that if the dead lock is to be broken General Kuropatkin will let Field Marshal Oyama take the initiative, as the Russians have the better of the present position, namely, a strong line of defence and Mukden behind them, making satisfactory winter quarters where the Russian reinforcements are now accumulating for an advance next Spring. The Japanese also are being strongly reinforced. The rivers are already frozen sufficiently to permit of the movement of artillery and commissariat trains, so that the country actually is better adapted to a Japanese advance than during the Summer.

Port Arthur Advices.

TOKIO, Nov. 13., 3 P. M.—A telegram from the headquarters of the Japanese Third army, besieging Port Arthur, dated midnight, November 22nd, says:

"On Monday night, November 21, the enemy made a counter attack on our forces in front of the north fort of the eastern group of forts on Kekwan mountain. The attack was repulsed."

Submarines For Japan.

TOKIO, Nov. 23.—Five submarine boats arrived at Yokohama to-day.

The submarine boats referred to in the dispatch from Tokio are probably the five boats shipped from Quincy Point, Mass., early in October last, overland to the Pacific coast. They were valued at nearly $4,000,000 and were understood to be intended for Japan. The boats occupied seventeen steel flat cars and six box cars. They were shipped in sections and each car was carefully covered with canvas which concealed the contents. There was not the slightest mark on any of the cars to indicate the contents or the destination and those who made inquiries on the subject received the stereotyped answer that the covered masses were a part of a large shipment of machinery destined for the West.

Japanese Movements.

MUKDEN, Nov. 23.—Indications are growing that the Japanese are undertaking a wide turning movement on the Russian left. A large number of commissariat wagons have been observed going eastward and some artillery exchanges have also been reported from the eastward.

General Kuropatkin has permitted men who have captured horses to sell them to officers, the proceeds to go to the families of men killed in battle. Fodder is becoming exceedingly scarce. The spirits of the men are good and the food is satisfactory. The rations of the men at the outposts and in the advance trenches are sent to them at night, as it would be impossible to do so during the day because the Japanese shell every convoy.

TOKIO, Nov. 23, 3 P. M.—Army headquarters yesterday received the following telegram from Manchurian headquarters:

"On Monday, November 21st, at 6:30 in the morning, our detachment advanced towards Weitsuku, north of Sienchuang, and attacked and occupied the enemy's blvouacking ground.

"Subsequently a superior force of the enemy gradually pressed our left flank and rear. Receiving reinforcements, we drove the enemy toward Chenholin at 9:30 A. M.

"The enemy's strength was about 600 infantry and 300 cavalry, with four guns. The enemy left thirty-nine dead bodies on the field. We took six prisoners as well as spoils, including thirty rifles, entrenching tools, ammunition, etc.

"In our casualties sub-Lieutenant Inouye was wounded and twenty-eight men killed or wounded."

PORT SAID, Nov. 24.—The Russian second Pacific squadron was sighted at 6 o'clock this morning.

HELD FOR RANSOM.

Young Man Who Disappeared in St. Louis in the Hands of Abductors.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

RICHMOND, VA., Nov. 23.—Langhorne Putney, brother of Stephen Putney, Jr., of this city, who disappeared in St. Louis on the 16th instant, wired from St. Louis to the family here to-day that young Putney is now definitely known to be in the hands of abductors. The latter have written to say that the young man will be given up on the payment to them of a sum of money to be agreed upon, and Langhorne Putney has responded to their communication on the subject of the ransom demanded. Their letter is anonymous, but bears every evidence of genuineness. Mrs. Langhorne Putney returned to Richmond to-day, and confirms the information above given.

MISSING BRIDEGROOM.

Disappeared a Few Hours Before the Time for the Ceremony.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NORFOLK, VA., Nov. 23.—Linwood Sykes, who was to have married Miss Elizabeth Pumphlett, in Portsmouth, this afternoon, disappeared a few hours before the time set for the ceremony and the police of this city are searching for him. He has been suffering with nervous troubles for some time and it is feared he has met with some accident and is unable to give an account of himself. The bride-elect is prostrated.

A DEADLY FIGHT.

Six Negroes Armed With Guns and Pistols—Three Killed.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

SHREVEPORT, LA., Nov. 23.—Six negroes engaged in a deadly fight in a forty-foot room, the participants being armed with shot guns and pistols. After the battle three lay dead. The other three escaped.

A woman and two children were in the room during the affray, but were not harmed. The trouble arose over the woman.

THE U. S. NAVY BADLY OFF FOR OFFICERS.

Report of Rear Admiral Converse, Chief of the Bureau of Navigation His Recommendations.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—How badly off the navy is for officers and how seriously this condition may effect the navy and the nation is plainly told in the annual report of Rear Admiral George A. Converse, chief of the bureau of navigation, approved by Secretary Morton to-day. Experience, especially in gun fire, he says, had shown that it is necessary to increase the number of officers assigned to the ships, so that the estimate made in 1902 of the number of officers needed for ships in commission is inadequate. It provided for only about one-half as many officers as ships of the same class carry in the British, French and German navies. Admiral Converse recommends that the number of lieutenants be increased from 350 to 600 and that the number of lieutenant commanders be increased from 200 to 300. "It is especially desirable, "the admiral says, "that every battleship and other powerful vessel requiring the greatest skill and experience for proper efficiency should have her full quota of officers of suitable rank; yet many of our battleships have lieutenants as ordnance officers and several battleships have ensigns and even midshipmen as watch and division officers. This very unsatisfactory and even dangerous condition is due to the many urgent demands for officers, the existing inadequacy of numbers often making it impossible to detail officers of appropriate rank."

Because of the important part played by torpedo craft in the war in the Far East, it is deemed advisable that the larger vessels of this type be commanded by lieutenant commanders.

Authorization by Congress of two vice admirals is urgently recommended in order that our flag officers may not be beneath foreign officers holding equal or inferior commands. "It is manifestly undesirable," says the admiral, "for our flag officers to be beneath all others in matter of precedence in international affairs with which they have to do as representatives of the United States." It is, therefore, recommended that the rank of vice admiral be conferred on the officer detailed as commander-in-chief of the North Atlantic and the Asiatic fleets.

Regarding the paramount efficiency of the battleships and the part played by them in the Far Eastern war, Admiral Converse said:

"Although a hundred and more torpedo boats and destroyers have been actually engaged for five months against battleships we have yet to to learn, authoritatively, of a torpedo from a torpedo vessel causing the loss of a single battleship.

"Those which have been sunk owed their destruction to submarine mines, anchored or broken adrift, torpedo vessels not contributing to the result except by the confusion and sense of greater danger due to their presence. It is evident that in the final summary of losses the achievements of torpedo vessels will count less than was at first supposed. It cannot be claimed, therefore, that there has been so far anything to discredit the battleship as a type; nor is any such outcome to be expected from this war, whatever may be the casualities among the battleships. To wage successful warfare with a naval force requires now, as it has required in all ages, a type of vessel which shall combine in the most effective manner the qualities of offence, mobility, defence, endurance, self maintenance. Such vessels are battleships and they constitute the main strength and reliance of a navy."

TOMMY RYAN AND JACK ROOT

Six Round Bout in Philadelphia Ended in the Fourth Round and Pronounced a Fake by the Referee.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 23.—The fight between Tommy Ryan, the middleweight champion, and Jack Root, of Chicago, the light-heavy weight, which was scheduled to be six rounds at the National Athletic Club to-night, was ended in the middle of the fourth round by the referee, Jack McGuigan, pronouncing it a fake. It was one of the most unsatisfactory pugilistic affairs ever held in this city and the spectators, long before the referee stopped the bout, showed their disapproval of the exhibition the men were giving. Trouble was averted by the prompt work of the police in jumping in the ring and protecting the fighters and in clearing the hall. The managers of both fighters vehemently protested against the action of the referee, but they found few sympathizers in the crowd.

Ryan and Root were late in entering the ring. After the spectators had been kept waiting a half hour Referee McGuigan, who has an interest in the club, anounced that the fighters were counting the money in the box offices. He explained that the house was a slim one and that each man wanted his money before entering the ring. Five minutes later Ryan and Root appeared.

The men did nothing more than feint for nearly a full minute in the opening round, which was followed by a light exchange of blows which left no mark on the fighters. The spectators began to hiss them toward the end of the round, and as they took their corners a storm of disapproval was hurled at them. In the second round not a single blow was struck.

The third round was so palpably poor that referee McGuigan leaned against the ropes and waved his hands in disgust at the fighters, attempt to mix it up. After two minutes and twenty seconds of the round had passed Root swung on Ryan and the latter dropped to the floor to avoid it. At this action the referee turned his back on the men and the spectators became very noisy. Ryan got on one knee and seeing that the referee was not tolling off the seconds, the fighters went to their corners. The confusion was great. At the expiration of the three minutes, the bell rang, but instead of sitting in their corners the men thought it was the beginning of the fourth round. The referee let them go. He watched them again attempting to land blows, which they did without damage, and after one minute and 36 seconds had elapsed he jumped through the ropes and left the men in the ring alone. His action was met with approval by the crowd.

The moment McGuigan left the men, a half hundred police under command of a captain surrounded the ring. Suddenly a soda water bottle, which had been thrown from the gallery dropped in the middle of the ring. Then a score of policemen climbed through the ropes and waved their hands for the crowd to calm down. When the police had a semblance of control Ryan and Root were led to their dressing rooms under heavy escort.

EVIDENCE AGAINST NAN PATTERSON.

Expert Testimony of Physicians Shows That Young Couldn't Have Shot Himself.

SKELETON AGAIN DISPLAYED.

The Scene Between Nan Patterson and Her Brother-in-Law Described by a Newsboy—The Testimony of the Cabman.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—In the trial of Nan Patterson, charged with the murder of Caesar Young, the expert testimony of physicians was offered to-day to show that Young could not have killed himself; two cab men testified to having seen Young abuse Miss Patterson early in the morning of June 4th, and another witness, a newsboy, swore that he saw J. Morgan Smith, her brother-in-law, strike Miss Patterson in the face on the night of June 3rd after Smith had said to her "You will have to do it," and she answered "I won't."

The trial still attracts unusually large crowds, and special details of police are required to keep out those who have no business in the court room and to maintain order in the building.

The skeleton which was brought into the case yesterday for the use of coroner's physician O'Hanlon in describing the course of the bullet which caused Young's death, was again brought into the court room, when the trial was resumed to-day.

Mr. Levy, in his cross-examination, led Dr. O'Hanlon back over the ground covered in his direct testimony yesterday. The witness described in detail the autopsy which he performed on Young's body.

"If you had regarded the case one of homicide would you have made a more careful examination?" asked Mr. Levy.

"I did not so regard it then as a case of homicide?"

"Did you regard it as a case of suicide?"

"I did," said the witness.

Dr. O'Hanlon said that while performing the autopsy he found three black marks on the second finger of Young's right hand and he stripped off pieces of skin which were turned over to the district attorney. The witness was not permitted to answer a question as to whether the black marks were made by gunpowder.

Another question as to whether he found any indication of gunpowder when he examined Nan Patterson's hands soon after the shooting also met with an objection from the prosecution and the court directed the witness not to answer.

At the conclusion of Dr. O'Hanlon's examination that part of his testimony in which he said that he considered the case to be one of suicide and not homicide, when he performed the autopsy, was stricken from the record on motion of Mr. Rand. Counsel for the defence took an exception to the ruling of Justice Davis on this point.

Dr. Ernest A. Lederle, a chemist, who examined the two pieces of skin taken from Young's finger, said that he had been unable to determine the cause of the black spots. "Without a chemical test, I would not venture to say whether or not the spots were made by gunpowder," said Dr. Lederle. "I only examined them by a microscope."

Mr. Levy suggested that Dr. O'Hanlon be put on the stand to tell the jury what made the black marks in the skin.

Mr. Rand objected to the defence going on at this stage of the trial and also to calling Dr. O'Hanlon as an expert.

"I have a man who extracted grains of powder from those pieces of skin," said Mr. Levy.

Justice Davis admonished the attorney to be more careful in his remarks and directed the jury to disregard the utterances of counsel regarding what it was claimed examination of the exhibit by others than the witness disclosed.

John Crowley, a cabman, said he was hailed by two men and a woman about 4 o'clock on the morning of June 4th, while his cab was standing at the corner of Eighth avenue and 125th street. The woman was the defendant in this case, and one of the men was Caesar Young. Young had abused Miss Patterson, the witness said, and she was crying. Young ordered him to drive the woman to her home, and he did so. On the way down he watched the occupant of the cab through the trap in the top of the hansom and she continued crying all the way down to Sixty first street, where she left the cab. Crowley said that Young and the man with him were intoxicated, but that Miss Patterson was not.

Albert Schneider, another cabman, witnessed the scene when Miss Patterson was put in Crowley's cab and he corroborated the testimony of the previous witness. After Crowley drove away, he said, Young and his companion called him and were driven to a house on West 140th street. He noticed that both men were under the influence of liquor.

The scene between Nan Patterson and her brother-in-law, J. Morgan Smith, which was referred to at length by Mr. Rand in his opening argument, was described by Joseph E. Hewitt, a newsboy. The witness said he was standing in front of a cafe at 59th street and Eighth avenue about 9 o'clock on the night of June 3rd, when Smith and Miss Patterson came out and got into a cab. They were quarrelling and as they got into the cab Smith struck Miss Patterson in the face.

"What did the man say," asked Mr. Levy.

"He said, 'You'll have to do it,'" answered the newsboy.

"And what did she say?"

"'I won't' and then he struck her and pushed her into the cab."

The witness said that he remembered the incident distinctly and was positive in his identification of Miss Patterson and the photograph of J. Morgan Smith. He had noticed the couple particularly, he said. "There is always a lot of quarrelling going on around the circle, and I keep my eyes open to see the fun," the newsboy explained.

Police Captain Sweeney was recalled to identify a photograph of Smith and to testify that he had summoned Smith to appear before the grand jury and that he had failed to appear.

He said he had procured a process against Smith on June 9th, but that he still had it, having been unable to serve it. A warrant calling for Smith's arrest for contempt was then read and marked for identification.

Court adjourned until Saturday.

In the corporation court at Roanoke, Va., Judge Woods announced that owing to his connection with parties to the defence, he could not sit in the case of Charles R. Fishburn, the banker charged with the murder of Dr. Fred Lefew, a physician. The hearing was postponed to the January term of court.

THE IRON MOLDERS' STRIKE.

Additional Arrests Made in Connection With the Alleged Dynamite Plot to Destroy Iron Foundries.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 23.—No additional arrests were made here to-day in connection with the alleged plot of striking moulders to destroy the Eureka foundry with dynamite. The day passed quietly at the foundries. Chief interest centered in the arrest of Joseph F. Valentine, president of the Iron Moulders' Union of North America, in Cleveland. The charge made against Valentine is aiding and abetting in the malicious destruction of property. The warrant for his arrest was sworn out by President Henry G. Gosiger, of the Eureka Foundry Company, a personal friend of the accused. A detective from this city started for Cleveland late this afternoon to bring Valentine back to this city. Another detective went to Detroit for Thomas F. Bracken who is charged with complicity in the murder of Samuel Weakley, a non-union moulder here, on October 7th. The cases of Fred Rauhauser, Jr., and Fred Rauhauser, Sr., John Hook, Jos. Hollowell and Jos. F. Valentine were called in the police court to-day and on motion of their attorneys their trial was set for December 14th. All of the above named men are now in custody except Hollowell, who has not yet been arrested. There are eight cases in all. William Friend, alias Potter, being already indicted for the murder of Samuel Weakley. Friend in an interview today denied all knowledge of a plot to kill Weakley or any other non-union moulders. He said he killed Weakley in self defence.

Young Rauhauser to-day repeated his confession made yesterday. He insists that Cook made the arrangements with him to place dynamite cartridges in the molds at the Eureka foundry. Hook later brought in Hollowell, who he claims went with him to Valentine's office where the latter would pay him $20 if he succeeded in destroying the shear punch. He stated that the dynamite cartridges were given him by Hollowell.

Valentine Arrested.

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 23.—Joseph F. Valentine, president of the Iron moulders' union of North America, was placed under arrest here to-day by the Cleveland police officials upon a telegraphic request from the Cincinnati police authorities. Valentine made no response to his being taken into custody and instead of trying to avoid such action waited at his hotel several hours for the expected officer.

Valentine's arrest is made in connection with alleged violence by members of the organization of which he is the head in Cincinnati, where a strike is on.

Valentine was not locked up, but was detained in the detective's room of the central police station. Valentine was permitted to address a local union of the iron moulders tonight in accordance with an engagement he had made several weeks ago. Valentine expects to leave for Cincinnati to-morrow morning.

THE ZEMSTVOISTS' MEETING.

Memorial Resolutions to be Laid Before the Emperor, Who is Reported as Unfavorable to the Movement.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 23.—The meeting of the Zemstvoists is ended, the members to-day dispersing to their homes, and in a few days the news of their action will be spread throughout Russia, to the Finnish Gulf, the Caspian Sea, Poland and the Ural mountains. They are leaving in high spirits, confident that no matter what the immediate results, the days November 19 to 22 will mark a turning point in Russian history. "The Rubicon is crossed. No retreat is possible," is the unanimous sentiment.

At last night's joint meeting of editors and literary men and the Zemstvoists the greatest enthusiasm prevailed and the fullest support was pledged to the programme adopted. Interior Minister Sviatapolk-Mirsky has informed the Zemstvoists that he will lay the memorial resolutions before the Emperor and while he made no promises regarding his personal recommendations the Zemstvoists are satisfied that the Prince will not leave the Emperor in the dark regarding the breadth, strength and import of the movement.

There is an intimation that the Emperor has already been advised of the action of the meeting and has expressed himself as unfavorable to it. According to a story which is told with much circumstantiality M. Pobedonosteff, the procurer-general of the Holy Synod, informed the emperor that in his opinion autocracy had reached the parting of the ways. There was no middle course. He must hold firmly to the old regime or be prepared to grant a constitution. Thereupon, the story goes, the Emperor called a family council at which opinion was practically united against yielding an iota. The young empress when asked for her view is said to have replied briefly: "I do not wish to see my son blown up."

Such stories, however, partake of the nature of common gossip in St. Petersburg and although repeated in well informed circles may have little foundation.

To Prevent Fires.

Chief Hill of the Philadelphia fire department lays down these rules to prevent fires:

Do not put ashes in wooden boxes or barrels. These wooden receptacles are a frequent cause of fire. In every kitchen and cellar there should be an ash box of iron or tin.

Keep the cellar clear of heaps of refuse—of old newspapers, rags and broken wood.

Cobwebs on cellar beams and walls should be carefully guarded against, and every cellar should receive, at least once a year, a complete coat of whitewash or of fireproof paint.

Line all flues with terra cotta.

Keep wood away from the chimneys. Where chimney lathing is necessary, use a lathing of metal.

Never hang lace curtains near gas jets. Let your windows be bare of lace, or else move your gas jets to another part of the room. In private houses there are few causes of fire more frequent than lace curtains.

A Fine New Pot Plant.

The nurserymen are always on the alert and scan the earth for novelties for their insatiable customers. One of the finest late introductions is the justicia, which has at a bound come into great favor as a house and greenhouse plant. It is of bushy and vigorous growth and covered the whole season with a great mass of bloom. It comes as yet in but two colors, red and blue, but both are of the finest shades of their respective colors. They require a soil of half sandy loam and leaf mold, with a sprinkling of coarse bone meal. When received, with the ball of earth attached, put in a pot a size larger than the ball and keep it shifted promptly as the pot fills with roots. Give a sunny situation. They make fine bedding plants if they can have proper soil.
